Cooperative Extension - 4-H & Youth Development

DSU Extension's 4-H and Youth Development Program reaches and teaches youth living in both rural and urban areas who are underserved by traditional youth programs. Activities are designed and implemented to teach Delaware youth how to become more involved in their communities by helping them develop the social and developmental skills they need for success in life.

Publications

- Bullying [1]
- Self-Esteem [2]

Delaware State University AgDiscovery 2015

July 6-19, 2015, Learn about the business aspects of protecting plants and animals while exploring careers in agribusiness. Students will live on the Delaware State University (DSU) campus in Dover and learn about a variety of administrative professions from university professors and agriculture employees. For for information please visit:www.aphis.usda.gov/agdiscovery [3]

Source URL: http://www.desu.edu/agriculture-and-related-sciences/cooperative-extension-4-h-youth-development

Links
[1] http://www.desu.edu/sites/default/files/u24/Bullying1%20Fact%20Sheet_2014.pdf
[2] http://www.desu.edu/sites/default/files/u24/Child%20Self-Esteem1%20Fact%20Sheet_2014_0.pdf
[3] http://www.aphis.usda.gov/agdiscovery