Delaware State University Office of Career Services Inaugural “Real People/Real Conversations”
Black History Month Edition
“Breaking Barriers in Sports with Wayne Embry”

Tuesday, February 8, 2022
6:00 – 7:00p.m. EST

Wayne Richard Embry is a retired American basketball player & basketball executive. Embry’s 11-year playing career as a center spanned from 1958 to 1969 playing for the Cincinnati Royals, Boston Celtics and Milwaukee Bucks, all of the NBA. After his playing career, Embry transitioned to a career as a professional basketball executive, becoming the first African-American general manager and team president in NBA history. The Basketball Hall of Famer is currently senior basketball advisor for the Toronto Raptors.
